OVERVIEW:

In Asia the flowers of the Ylang Ylang tree are spread on the beds of newlyweds. It has a long history in skin and hair care products and is beneficial at balancing the skin's oil production. Asian medicine use it as a stimulant for hair growth. It is frequently part of perfumes with a romantic/sensual theme.

Ylang Ylang is distilled over the course of 14 hours. During this time various grades of Ylang Ylang are extracted: Extra #1, #2, #3. The left over plant material is used to make the inferior Cananga Oil.

COMMON USES:

Ylang Ylang's sweet flowery smell has an aromatic, hypnotic and relaxing scent that affects both the mind and emotions. It can calm tension and lift negative moods.

Add 6-10 drops of this essential oil to your diffuser and create a seductive environment. To help enhance the moment, blend a massage oil scent with Ylang Ylang as well and let the aroma take you away on a sensual journey.
